DEDICATION OF WAR MEMORIAL

Much to the credit of Ed Taylor the Worthington Branch of the Canadian Legion are soon to dedicate, at the soldiers' plot of the local cemetery a memorial to those who paid the supreme sacrifice for us in the two great wars.

Ed. has made a marvellous job in creating a replica of the town memorial clock, which will bear the names of our fallen defenders. This memorial is scheduled to be dedicated on Sunday, October 7th.

We have for long felt, and often reiterated, that Canadians in general, and residents of our own communities in particular, fall greatly in their appreciation of what has been suffered in their behalf, and the tremendous sacrifices that have been made in order to preserve their freedom and security.

We have attended dozens of Armistice and Memorial Day services, and from the number in attendance at most of these we have been moved to wonder whether you and I really have the faintest idea of the price in blood, sweat and tears, that was paid to secure the things we enjoy, but perhaps value too lightly.

In the rush and tear of things present in the strenuous struggle of living and for a living, we may forget that this privilege was bought for us at a price which is still being paid in lonely hearts and broken bodies.

Nothing can pay for a life sacrificed, but there are some things we can do that will help to make the sacrifice worth while. Foremost of these is of course to guard jealously that which was purchased by the sacrifice, our freedom to think, worship, speak, read and vote as we please. The second duty that devolves on us is to remember with a proper measure of appreciation that which was done for us, and the price paid.

Attending many Remembrance services, we have noticed that for the greater part these have been organized and arranged by the comrades of those who fell. While we would hate to be guilty of making any statement which would interfere with the present method of holding these services, we feel that it should really be up to those who stayed at home and reaped the benefits to take the initiative in expressing thanks and halloing the memories of our departed heroes.

What a fine thing it would be, if, annually, those of us who owe so much should lead in rendering thanks, and should invite our returned men and women to enjoy "our" hospitality. We do not put this forward as a particularly feasible idea, for few indeed are the families who did not send a son or daughter to take part in the great work of freedom, but we do put it forward as food for thought.

WAINWRIGHT HAS FALLEN BEHIND

Major Kitson, of the Salvation Army, called on us this morning, and informed us that last year the people of this district contributed about $76.00 to the Red Shield Campaign. At the same time he pointed out that many much smaller centers, such as Rimby and Bentley had made collections amounting to $700.00 and more. This is a state of affairs that is not quite satisfactory. We are quite sure that the people of this district are behind the work of the Salvation Army with as much sincerity as those of any other community, and if given a reasonable opportunity, would make as fine a showing as anywhere else in the province. Perhaps most of the blame must fall on the local committee, which was anything but active in the drive. In any case, the committee has been reorganized, and you will this fall be given an opportunity to make your contribution.

It might be well to point out here that while the larger part of the money raised for the Salvation Army is taken from the district, a fund is built up here which consists of a certain percentage of all money collected. This fund is at the disposal of the local Salvation Army committee to be used as need indicates.

The Salvation Army is one of the finest religious and welfare organizations in existence, and concentrates its ministry where the need is most urgent. When you place a dollar, or five or ten or more in their hands, you may rest assured that some person whose need both spiritually and materially is great, will be given assistance they sorely need.

THIS IS NAVY WEEK

On Sunday, our government is asking you and me and all Canadians young and old to remember the terrific Battle of the Atlantic during the recent War and with heart and voice pay tribute to our valiant Canadian Navy and Merchant Seamen and in particular to remember those who serving at sea, did not return. Truly it has been said "Greater love no man hath than this, that he lay down his life for a friend." Our Navy fought our battles, and those who did not return gave their lives for us.

One of the biggest struggles that history has ever known took place in the North Atlantic Ocean. From Canada's gate there sailed a constant stream of merchant ships carrying supplies of all kinds to the people of Britain, and to the men fighting the great battle for freedom in Europe, Africa and elsewhere.

The Nazi chiefs knew that if they could sink enough of these ships they could conquer the free peoples of the world. They decided to destroy every ship they possibly could that attempted to cross the Atlantic Ocean from Canada and the United States. As a result, German U-boats or submarines did everything possible, by day and night, to sink our ships. They actually did sink more than two thousand, seven hundred big ships and for a while more ships went down than our allied nations could build.

Sea power finally won the War for us and our Allies, but it took sixty-eight months of continuous war at sea to win our victory.

History now records the tremendous contribution made by our own Royal Canadian Navy in the Battle of the Atlantic. Ours was above all a "fighting Navy." It was responsible for the safe passage of no less than twenty-five thousand voyages of merchant ships, which carried over one hundred and eighty million tons of supplies.

The Battle of the Atlantic actually did become the "life-line" of freedom. Our Royal Canadian Navy did not falter nor did the Merchant Navy nor the men that manned their ships. In face of the ruthless enemy, in the blizzards of the North Atlantic, amid the thunder of the great Atlantic rollers, in storm and sunshine the grim battle continued and the life-line held firm.

Today in peace-time, as in the days of war, our splendid Canada, which we all love dearly, continues to be dependent upon the sea. In truth, to Canada ships mean freedom, ships mean security.

You Pay The Wage Increases

The various railroad unions involved in the recent strike are still protesting loudly that if their total demands are conceded as promptly as the government concedes the major points at issue, there still should be no effect on the cost of living. It is to be presumed that they will feel the same way about the current demand for a 30-cent an hour increase in the test argument with the C.P.R. They could hardly argue differently when the running trades had been such sympathetic and co-operative bystanders in the strike of the non-operating workers.

One can't help believing that the officials, so protesting, can read a financial statement sufficiently well to realize that the increases and benefits demanded cannot be paid out of earnings. They must appreciate that there are no funds that are not already overextended in replacing and modernizing obsolete equipment and providing added facilities for a defence economy.

Despite their public announcements, these officials must know that there is no way to meet growing hour and wage demands without increased rates or government subsidy. How, either could be imposed without influencing adversely the cost of living only a diligent labor official could imagine. What they are probably willing to suggest, without being too blatant about it, is that as far as the membership of the unions are concerned the increased costs of living will be more than offset by the increased wages and benefits. In its simplest form the argument is that the public will accept an over-all increase in their costs in order that a relatively small group may establish wage and hour demands that many benefit.

Proves Fruit Farms Possible On Prairie

LAC PELLETER, Sask. — A Saskatchewan member of parliament is demonstrating that orcharding is a practical proposition on the prairies. In the dry southwestern corner of Saskatchewan, Irwin W. Studer (L. Maple Creek) this year is expecting to harvest at least 300 boxes of standard-size apples from a 20-acre orchard said out eight years ago.

The Studer fruit farm is considered an outstanding example of what can be done on dry land, where there is not an irrigation project within miles.

Mr. Studer is known as a pioneer in contour farming, terracing his land in accordance with the natural slopes of the earth's surface. The apple trees on the farm are not tall, but they are covered with apples. In all, Mr. Studer has 3,000 fruit trees, including numerous varieties of plum and cherry.

He also grows pears and apricots, but because of a tendency toward early blossoming the apricot yield has not been good. To offset this, the University of Saskatchewan now is working on a cross between apricot and lot-blossoming cherry.

Mr. Studer sells his fruit to district residents who pick it themselves. This year people came from all parts of southwestern Saskatchewan.

THE WEEK AT OTTAWA

by the Canadian Press

Agriculture Minister Gardiner came out with some more advice for Canadian farmers last week. It was much the same as he has often given in the recent past.

In effect he again advised a switch of production emphasis from wheat to livestock and said he believed hops could put more money into the farmer's pockets in the next two years than anything else.

The minister's latest reiteration came when he spoke at a Rotarian Farmer's night and banquet at the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, Ont. He made the point that feed wheat was the thing that determined livestock production and backed it up by saying:

"In 1942-43-44 we had available for feeding 1,500,000 bushels of wheat, oats and barley. We produced in four years 5,000,000,000 pounds of pork. In the succeeding four years we had 1,500,000 bushels of wheat, oats and barley to feed. We produced 3,500,000,000 pounds of pork. The pork production is in almost exact proportion to the grain available."

"The facts are so self-evident that one would expect no grade VIII student would question them. A good eastern crop of feed grain, a good western crop of feed grain and an abundant supply of frozen western wheat should raise the production of pork over at least two years. In my opinion the farmers of Canada can put more dollars into their pockets feeding hogs during the next two years than in any other way."

He was substantially the same argument Mr. Gardiner put to the farmers when he toured the west last summer. Get out of wheat and into cattle and hog production, he said then. But for the most part his advice seemed to have been ignored by the western farmer who were about ready to harvest a $4,000,000-bushel wheat crop—until the frost hit at the end of August.

The latest Bureau of Statistics figures say the total wheat crop now will be about 480,000,000 bushels—well over the 10-year average. But because of frost damage much of it won't be of milling grade. The bureau says it is feared that only about 40 per cent will grade No. 1, 2 or 3. Last year 84 per cent of the crop fell into these grades.

Now the farmers who took Mr. Gardiner's advice of last summer are sitting pretty. They've got their livestock coming on when prices are high and expected to stay that way. And because of low-grade grain crops, feeds will be no problem. They'll probably be more plentiful and cheaper than for some time.

The question a lot of farmers are asking is: did farmer Gardiner (he farms at Lemberg, Sask.) take the advice of Agriculture Minister Gardiner and get out of wheat into livestock? Rubber Expansion Canadians heard last week of the first major move in the nation's new industrial expansion program for defence purposes. More than $4,500,000 has been authorized for expanding the government's synthetic rubber plant at Sarnia, Ont.

The expansion was announced by Trade Minister Howe, the man who at the recently-concluded special session of parliament was given wide powers to bring stock they wish to offer should send their entries immediately to S. C. Hecker, Secretary Manager of the Vermilion Agricultural Society; entry forms may be had on application.

Vermilion Stock Sale Set For October 28

The Vermilion Fair Board is to again sponsor a fall sale of purebred beef and dairy cattle and swine, the sale to be held at Vermilion on Saturday, October 28th. Entries for the sale will close on October 6th and catalogue of the offerings will be made available to the public shortly after this date.

Differing from previous sales held at Vermilion, Dairy Cattle will be included thus making it possible for those interested to obtain some first class stock of the dairy breeds.

Don E. Ball and Associates of Edmonton will yield the hammer and it is expected that conditions existing throughout Western Canada this fall will make for an outstanding sale.

It is pointed out that entries close on October 6th and all who have purchased

A New Idea For The Lunch Box

Here is something different to put in the School Lunch Box, says Miss Joyce Lewis, Nutrition Specialist, Alberta Department of Agriculture. It is a new sandwich filling which she finds to be a favorite with the children. The name of it is ABC Sandwich—

1 tablespoon honey

2 tablespoons rose hip puree

1 carrot, shredded

Sufficient wheat germ to thicken the mixture to sandwich spread consistency.

The carrot provides vitamin A, the wheat germ gives B vitamins, and the rose hip puree vitamin C. The honey adds energy, holds it all together, and makes it taste good.

To make the rose hip puree wash the hips and remove stem and hull. Put through a food chopper using medium knife. (If you haven't a food chopper and still get good results). Cover with water and simmer until tender (about 5 minutes); longer if no food chopper was used). Press through a sieve. It will soon be too cold to get your winter supply of rose hips, so if you haven't got yours now you should hurry to.

THANKSGIVING is here. If you are like me that makes you think of the picturesque colors in the trees, grain and land. Food is also brought to mind—pumpkin pie, turkey, mashed potatoes and gravy and cranberry sauce. The cranberry sauce is a wonderful tradition but if you haven't made yours yet why don't you try this: (I like it better than real cranberry sauce). Put raw cranberries and raw orange through the fine blade of a meat chopper, sweeten to taste and serve. Easy and delicious.

I hope that anyone who has the opportunity to will go and see the Art Display during the first week in October.

ber at the Public School Auditorium in Wainwright. This is an event that should be repeated often I think, and your support will make it so. I believe that it would do everyone good to be able to sit down for an afternoon and nibble away with paints. Not that you would produce any masterpieces probably but it gives one such a wonderfully carefree feeling that defies description.

I'll bet you all know the answer to the question last week. It was—you remove the stains from any garment or article BEFORE you wash it, and also before you press the article. If you do wash or press a stain you are liable to set the stain in the fabric.

This week's question is: If your sewing machine sews a material with stitches of uneven length what can you do to remedy the problem?

Newcastle Disease

Newcastle disease is new to Alberta although not new in the United States and European countries. Being a new disease we must be on the lookout for it at all times in order to check it out and keep poultry flocks clean in this province.

The symptoms of the disease in the laying flock are coughing, rattling and gasping. This spreads rapidly through the flock and may last two weeks or longer. Egg production will drop and eggs are generally soft shelled, and mostly laid on the floor. Birds with normally brown eggs will lay chalky white eggs rough on the surface. There will be a drop in food consumption, and some birds will be affected with diarrhoea generally of a greenish color. Only a few adult birds normally die of Newcastle Disease.

The disease in young cockerels and pullets follows about the same symptoms as those for the laying flock. Losses however may be higher, up to 20% in some cases.

In chicks, coughing, sneezing and gasping will spread rapidly and some chicks will emit rapid, low, chirping noises. The death rate is high from 20 to 100 percent. Some birds develop nervous symptoms and the legs may be weak or paralyzed.

If care is exercised the likelihood of Newcastle getting into a flock is minimized. If the disease is thought to have made entry into the flock the

Vaccinated Calves Are In Demand

Dr. E. E. Ballantyne, Director of Veterinary Services, says that the wist livestockman when looking for additions to his herd is demanding only those that were vaccinated as calves against Bang's Disease. Such cattle are selling at a higher price, because the resistance built up through calfhood vaccination is worth a great deal to any cattleman.

A few months ago, an Alberta dairyman paid $4.00 apiece extra for five Jersey heifers because they had been vaccinated as calves. In Eastern Canada, American buyers are demanding cattle that were vaccinated as calves, and are paying extra for them. Recently, an eastern cattleman wanted to buy 200 head of Hereford cows and heifers 18 months, but they had to be cattle that had been vaccinated as calves against Bang's Disease. Alberta cattlemen have not enough vaccinated stock to sell to fill the order. Actually, very few should be sold until a completely vaccinated herd has been built up.

Every female calf possible should be vaccinated this Fall, says Dr. Ballantyne. Contact your veterinarian or district agriculturist and get your calves on the list for vaccination. This will help eradicate Bang's Disease, eventually eliminate undulant fever in humans, and meet the demand for vaccinated cattle.

Farm Accidents

Tragic accidents have claimed the lives of two more Alberta farmers.

Last Monday on a farm near Duchesne, Cornelius Bakker, just 15, had his right leg cut off at the knee when he became entangled in the power take-off of a tractor. He died en route to the hospital.

The same day on his farm just south of Edmonton Elmer Klapstein suffered fatal burns when gasoline exploded while he was refuelling his tractor. He ran over a mile to reach help. Mr. Klapstein died later in the hospital.

Farm people should take warning from the misfortune of others and always be extremely careful when working with farm machinery.

He that hath a good harvest may be content with some thistles.

Any suspected case must be reported to the nearest Dominion Health of Animals Veterinarian. The closest to this district is at Vermilion.

Seasonal Swine Hints

With the winter swine program in mind, A. J. Charnecki, Livestock Supervisor, Alberta Department of Agriculture, suggests that this is the time to prepare suitable shelters. They should be at least 100 yards away from the place where the sows are fed. Past experience has shown that brood sows that are forced to take a certain amount of exercise produce the strongest litters. Shelters may consist of colony houses well banked with straw. They should face south and be periodically well bedded during the winter months. Another form of shelter can be provided by preparing a rough pole framework and blowing straw over it at the time of threshing. This straw shelter can be used for about 3 years, after which it should be destroyed by burning and a new shelter erected.

To produce strong healthy litters the grain feed of the sow should consist of approximately 50 per cent oat chaff with barley or low grade wheat making up the balance. To this should be added the necessary protein concentrates containing linseed or meat scraps. When adding concentrates, follow the manufacturer's directions, advises Mr. Charnecki. In addition, green leafy alfalfa provided in feed racks adds extra calcium and Vitamin A and B so essential for the production of strong healthy litters.

Even in winter, plenty of water is needed for economical swine production. A large water tank with a recessed automatic waterer (sometimes known as the J. C. Wise waterer) is highly recommended. The water should be kept above freezing point by use of a heater so that the pigs may obtain water whenever they need it.

A STRONG CIGAR

CALGARY—This is the way Jacob Wohlgemuth tells it: He was resting at home when there was a knock on the door. There was a man on the porch who said he didn't like the cigar Jacob was smoking and hit him in the face. In hospital with a fractured cheek bone, Jacob said he had never even seen the man before.

Enjoy your little whilst the fool is seeking more.

Reynolds Garage has just completed unloading a carload of new Dodge cars.

Mrs. D. Garvin, of Regina, is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. E. Walker.

We regret to report that Barney Buckle is back in hospital again suffering with a leg ailment. He has been off duty for quite a while now, and we hope that it is not long before we see his smiling face around the hardware store again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harvie, of Castlebar, B.C. are visiting with the G. N. Boyd family.

Another former Wainwright citizen passed away last week in the person of James Moffatt, of Vancouver, B.C. He was for many years a farmer in this district before leaving for the coast where he entered the contracting business. His death occurred suddenly.

Two brothers, William and Robert still reside here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Moffatt left for Vancouver early this week to attend the funeral.

Miss Bea Snyder was home from Edmonton at the week-end to visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Snyder, and friends.

Hope To Standardize Red Cross Transfusion Equipment

Quebec, Sept. 21 — Dr. W. Stuart Stanbury, national commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, sailed for Europe today aboard the Empress of Scotland, to attend the 21st session of the Board of Governors, League of Red Cross Societies, in Monaco, Oct. 18-21. En route, Dr. Stanbury will represent Canada at a meeting of Red Cross officials of the British Commonwealth in London, October 5 and 6.

In Monaco, Dr. Stanbury will act on the finance, Junior Red Cross advisory and health advisory committees. As an expert on blood transfusion therapy he is also expected to take a leading part in discussions regarding the standardization of Red Cross blood transfusion equipment throughout the world with a view to efficiency in time of war and major disaster.

The finance committee, to which Dr. Stanbury is a delegate, will consider problems of financing the International Committee of the Red Cross—the strictly neutral body charged with supervising adherence to the Geneva conventions in times of war which govern the treatment of war prisoners and war wounded. By international agreement both national Red Cross Societies and national governments are expected to contribute towards the support of the International Committee.

"Your methods of cultivation are hopelessly out of date," said the youthful agricultural college graduate to the old farmer. "Why, I'd be astonished if you got ten pounds of apples from that tree."

"The world's I," replied the farmer. "It's a pear tree."

The Cattalo Arrive At Manyberries

On Saturday, September 16th, nine Cattalo bulls, sixty-eight Cattalo cows and thirty-five calves arrived at Manyberries, via Canadian Pacific Railway, on the same day. Norman Miles of Edgerton, Alberta, arrived at the station with the first two truck loads of the forty hybrid cows (half domestic, half bison). Miles arrived at the station with the last of the hybrids and thirty-three Cattalo calves out of the hybrid cows on Friday, September 22nd.

Two animals were left at Wainwright. One was King, an immense rugged hybrid bull whose disposition at this stage is uncertain, although arrangements are being made to transport him to one of the parks. The other animal, a hybrid cow, vigorously resisted all attempts to remove her from the brush and she was finally left to be disposed of later. The Cattalo have been hard to manage at the Wainwright enclosure because of the dense brushy growth which covers much of the area. However, when they are removed to the open range at Manyberries, they behave much the same as ordinary range cattle. Undoubtedly, they retain some of the wildest of the American bison, but this may not constitute a serious disadvantage on open ranges. Their great rugged heads and heavy coats of hair give the impression of hardness, and they appear to be good travellers. The hybrids, which are by nature the wildest of these animals, are readily tamed on the range.

Chosen From Among 300 As "Miss B.C."

"I'm so thrilled with flying that I have decided to become a stewardess," said 17-year-old Della Calhoun, recently crowned Miss British Columbia, on her arrival in Toronto on a one-month cross-country tour. The young traveler, from Burnaby, B.C., was chosen from among 300 other candidates and seen above is reason why. Sponsored by Pacific National Exhibition, the beauty contestants were judged for beauty of face and figure, poise and bearing, general intelligence and special talents, charm and personality.

The Cattalo herd is made up of two main strains of cattle which are substantially three-quarters and seven-eighths domestic respectively. The former animals, being one-quarter bison, are the more hardy strain and it is believed that they may have sufficient winter hardiness to warrant a continued breeding program for improved beef conformation. At present, many of the animals are comparatively light in the hindquarters. A feeding trial conducted last winter with Cattalo and Hereford calves indicated that the Hereford will outgain the Cattalo in the feedlot, but that the three-quarter domestic Cattalo may have a higher dressing percentage.

One of the greatest problems in the whole project has been that of sterility among bulls, although some progress has been made toward the elimination of this problem.

Mr. A. S. MacLellan, who has been in charge of the Cattalo herd at Wainwright for many years, has great hopes for the future of the Cattalo. It is certain that they have possibilities for commercial beef production. At Manyberries they will have to measure up to the high standards of modern range herds. Hereafter, if Cattalo prove superior in winter hardiness and give promise of economical beef production, a long term breeding program toward their improvement will be maintained.

Joe—"The butter in this house is so strong, it cut" while right over to the coffee and say, "How do you do?"

Bill—"But the coffee would be too weak to answer."

Your Furniture Made New With A Paint Brush

If the sight of your furniture gives you that "morning after" feeling, after you're suffering from a malady immortalized in that celebrated New Orleans story, the first line of which is "How I hate my old furniture. Blues!" And since the budget has probably taken on a beating in these inflationary times, the economist's suggestion refers to as the period of the "high cost of living," if you wish to improve your nightmarish existence you'd better give serious thought to doing some regular work yourself.

A child of three can handle a paint brush - though it may be a disastrous experience. But you can read too, which is where you have the edge on him. Get as much literature as you can find on refinishing—consult your paint dealer and all other authorities, and don't start until you know precisely what you're going to do and how to do it.

Begin in a small way! Those who start with a dining room table and up next themselves, the furniture and the world in general. Why not start with that coffee table on which your friends just love to butt out their cigarettes, or on which they've inscribed their initials with a glowing clear.

The first thing to do is to remove all the old finish. Use a commercial varnish remover. Junior will love to drink it, so give him five dollars and send him out on the town—then open all the windows as the fumes from the remover may be strong. Apply it liberally with a brush or old rag and let it remain on the surface for about ten or fifteen minutes. Scrape it off with a putty knife or some other blunt-edge instrument. Have plenty of newspaper handy to receive the old finish. Use your ingenuity on those difficult places, turned legs, or the fancy carving, or if that doesn't help try applying the varnish remover with a toothbrush. Then after most of the finish is off rub with steel wool.

Now you've finally reached the wood. Sand out those little burnt places left by the hot ashes from good old Charlie's pipe, and the rings left by the cocktail glasses that time he experimented with wood alcohol. Then sand the entire piece starting with a medium grade and working down to the finest papers until you've restored a glossy, "natural wood" finish to the piece.

If the table is porous wood such as mahogany or oak it will require a coat of filler before you start refinishing. If it's pine or maple, you can get by without filling. And now comes the job of applying the new surface. If Charlie's pipe burnt so deep that you can't sand them out without making a dint in the top why not enamel the whole piece? You'll have a hard, colorful surface that can act as an accent piece in your decorating scheme.

Many a blonde will tell you that bleaching is not for the amateur. But if you insist on a light blonde finish your paint dealer can supply a commercial bleach. Be careful with it. It's tricky stuff, and follow the directions to the letter. Then apply the paint in which you wish to give the wood—ivory, grey, green, cream—and immediately rub off all excess paint with a clean rag. Allow the surface to dry thoroughly and sand lightly. A couple of coats of white shellac (sand between them) and a coat of wax will complete the job. Or you can use water stain and varnish (two coats—clear spar). These are simple finishing schedules and materials are readily available, together with detailed instructions from your paint dealer.

Gradually you can transform all your furniture in this way. It's fun to do, but what is even more important, in the doing you'll banish the old and sound of the "old furniture blues."

Dad—"But you can't marry him, dear. He was only 18 a week."

Daughter—"Yes, but when you're in love, a week passes so quickly."

The only lot most men don't grumble at is their burial lot.

RAINMAKING

Experiments in the United States this year seem to prove that clouds can be compelled to precipitate their moisture in the form of rain by spraying them with dry ice or silver iodide. It now appears quite possible that in the not too distant future rainmaking, where conditions are propitious, will be done in a scientific and effective manner. It is quite possible that if this expectation is realized the drier regions of Western Canada will be made much more productive. At times on these prairies in periods of prolonged drought moisture-laden clouds from the south pass over without yielding precipitation. An encircling cold front from the north is needed to compel the clouds from the south to yield their rainfall.

Last spring New York city paid $100 a day to Dr. Wallace Howell of Harvard University to make rain so the city's reservoir would be filled with water. Ample rainfall resulted.
In New Mexico, Dr. Irving Langmuir, 63-year-old scientist, obtained surprising results through injecting silver iodide into clouds from a plane.

Canadian Radio Listeners Just Can't Decide

Much has been said and written of the relative merits of privately-owned and state-run radio.

Here in Canada, with both systems well established, we are in an enviable position for comparison. With some 91 per cent of Canadian homes owning a radio, nearly everybody has views of some kind on the matter.

But the controversy seems to remain unresolved.

Some people are vitriolic concerning "singing commercials" and what they call "programs designed for the lowest common denominator." Others are equally opposed to what they regard as a "monopoly" or the "artificial" they claim to see in some of the non-sponsored shows.

Many people, however, choose a middle course. They point out that each individual is free to listen to any program he wishes and, well, "live and let live."

And after all, there are certain things which can be done better under one system or the other.

As far as the commercial stations are concerned, they are subject to considerable competition; their existence is dependent on the number of listeners. Thus, they have to produce the best show they can, artistically and tech-

Seed For Exhibition

Alberta farmers who intend to display seed samples at the Toronto Royal or Chicago International this fall will find much useful information in the revised circular "The Preparation of Seed for Exhibition." No matter how carefully material has been selected, cured, and threshed, says J. E. Birdsell, Supervisor of Crop Improvement, a good deal of work is still needed to produce a well-grained, uniform sample. This circular is the answer to some of the problems involved. Copies may be obtained from District Agriculturists or from the Field Crops Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture at Edmonton.

Mr. Birdsell warns however that preparation of exhibition samples starts even before threshing. Brighter samples will be obtained by covering stacks to avoid weathering, or hanging the sheaves head down in a well-aired shed or other building to cure. Oats and wheat may be threshed with a threshing machine if handled properly. Unless the grain is over-dry little damage will result. Reducing the speed of the machine and removing concaves will reduce damage.

If threshing with a combine, the rubber cylinder is less likely to damage kernels than the tooth type. Hand threshing by the use of a flail or by rubbing out on canvas stretched over a wooden frame is also satisfactory. A wooden block covered with a piece of corrugated rubber does an effective job of rubbing. For best results barley should be threshed by hand. Hulls are easily damaged if a regular threshing machine is used and samples so damaged are not satisfactory for exhibition purposes.

In spite of the frost and other hardships, enough good grain has been produced in Alberta this year to provide many excellent samples of exhibition quality, says Mr. Birdsell. Alberta seed exhibitors have won high honours in the past at both the Toronto Royal and the Chicago International, and there is no reason why we should not again enter samples that compare favourably with world's best.

cables, footwear and mechanical goods. The expansion will be financed out of Polymer's current earnings and depreciation reserves. It will begin as soon as engineering and design plans are completed and the first increased production will come in about eight months to a year.

Apple Muddle

Canada's main apple crop now has been picked and this year—so last—the big growers in British Columbia and the Maritimes are wondering what they are going to do with it. The problem again is finding foreign markets and the prospects aren't very bright. The crop this year is expected to be about 15,000,000 bushels as compared with 13,000,000 last year.

British Columbia growers already have asked the federal government for a subsidy of $1.25 a box to help them meet United States competition. Maritime growers are also about to ask Dominion aid for their industry.

But the word around Ottawa is that under consideration, comments taxing big chunks out of the federal treasury this year likely will total a lot less than the $2,500,000 that was given to help the east and west apple industries in 1949. Some sources say that the B.C. request will be turned down, though it is known that the matter is still under consideration.

The argument in government circles against a renewal of subsidies this year is that it might lead to the United States increasing the subsidy it has paid growers south of the border.

The point then might lead to the whole where the two governments would try to outdo themselves in subsidies to give their apple growers the advantage in the available markets.

For B.C. there is one hope. A new United-Canadian apple contract may be completed this year. If it develops it will be a straight deal between B.C. Tree Fruits Limited, the Okanagan marketing co-operative, and the United Kingdom government.

Elusive Zebra Defy Horsemen

CHADDOCK, South Africa — Eleven mountain zebras defied the efforts of a small army of horsemen and ground forces consisting of men and boys to drive them to Mountain Reserve at Chadcock.

The zebra, a rare species, had been given to the National Parks Board by a farmer, M.H.K. Lombard.

They were to be driven down a four-mile corridor to the reserve, where the parks board was ready to receive them. A mounted and foot posse was organized

Many Sport Hurts Said Unnecessary

The best way to avoid accidents is to be prepared both physically and mentally, says H. J. Miller of Mutual Benefit Health and Accident Association in an article—"Let's Take the Pain out of Playtime"—in Health magazine published by the Health League of Canada.

Thousands of casualties result annually from accidents at play, states Mr. Miller, who adds that "we must begin to realize that playing is an art if you are to participate in any form of sporting activity and stay free of injuries. The fellow who keeps in condition and closely observe the normal precautions isn't likely to end up in a hospital ward with a pain-wracked body as the result of an unfortunate mishap."

The author stresses the need for good conditioning for those who want to play strenuous games, the advisability of taking it easy in the early part of the season when some sport is being taken up after a few months' layoff, and avoidance of over-fatigue which, he stresses, is one of the most frequent causes of accidents.

Children able to participate in organized sports at school or the playground, states Mr. Miller, should have the necessary equipment—pads, masks and a competent coach or instructor. Parents should take a genuine interest in the children's activities even though it means "getting out of that easy chair and putting down the newspaper for an hour or two after supper."

He admonishes the sportsman to keep a "keen eye on those youngsters. They are a great comfort in old age."

On the subject of fatigue, Mr. Miller says that when fatigue creeps in, the mind gets sluggish as do the limbs and there the stage is set for an injury. The human body can take only so much punishment, and an athlete with his "second wind" is much more useful to the team than one who remains in the contest without relief.

"When you feel fatigue coming on," he says, take a breather. Learn how to relax completely when you're not playing."

Of two cowards, the one who attacks is conqueror.

Who doesn't take care of his credit will soon have none to take care of.

ized to deliver them.

But the zebras declined to co-operate. They're still grazing happily on Lombard's farm.

The park had only two mountain zebras left of its original herd. These animals, both stallions, were shot recently, and the bodies presented to the Transvaal Museum in Pretoria.

Aluminum Wrappers

keep food fresh!

An "Inside Story" about Butter

Butter goes stale quickly when air and light get in. That's why better-wrapped butter tastes better. Buy one of the many brands that are flavoured in aluminum foil.

The next time you buy Butter, Cheese, Candy, Chocolate, Tea, look for the brands in clean, hygienic aluminum foil. Whenever you see aluminum on the outside of any packaged food, there's an "inside story" of purity well-protected.

No other material is more "food-friendly" than aluminum. So save the protective foil. Use it to rewrap the butter when you put it away, and protect that "farm-fresh" flavour.

Hints to the Housewife

Wrap food leftovers in aluminum foil. Keep them fresh for another meal. Perishable fruits and vegetables stay fresh and crisp in aluminum foil.

Death And Funeral Of Mrs. J. McLean

Mrs. John McLean, a resident of the Kitchissippi district for the past thirty-two years, passed away in the Lloydminster Hospital on July 24th, as a result of injuries received in a car accident which occurred late the evening before.

The deceased was born on May 30th, 1896, in Barnett, B.C., and in 1922 moved to Chauvin, Alberta, where she resided with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Varty of the Green Meadows district. In 1918 she moved to the Kitchissippi district and on December 4th, 1920, became the bride of John McLean, Mr. and Mrs. McLean have ever since made their home in the Kitchissippi district.

Left to mourn their loss are her loving husband; one daughter, Ella; a son, Jack; and one grandchild, two sisters, Mrs. Frances Stanley of Invermere, B.C., and Mrs. Ida Buhler of Vancouver, also survive.

The funeral service was held in the Kitchissippi Town Hall on Thursday, August 3rd, when services were conducted by the Rev. H. Wilson of Knox Presbyterian Church, Lloydminster. Interment was in the Lloydminster cemetery.

The pallbearers were: Pete Sutherland, Bruce Mackay, Bill Scarborough, Bill Sutherland, Stafford James and Henry Michie.

At Paradise Valley Harvesting Work At A Standstill

Mr. and Mrs. W. Waterfield, Mr. Browner and Kenna Dunn of Inlay were visiting friends and relatives on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Freestone and family of Armstrong have taken over the Uneda Lunch taking over on Monday.

Mr. Klatt and family of Viking have taken up residence in town. Mr. Klatt is in the employ of Knor's Garage as machanic.

Mr. and Mrs. James McAmmond, Shirley, Lorraine and Jimmie all of Edworthy, B.C., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John McAmmond during the past week.

Mrs. Clarence Connors, Mrs. William Roddick and Mrs. W. A. Gunn attended a W. A. Rally of the United Church held at Vegreville on Wednesday. They report a very interesting and instructive meeting. While there they visited with Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kuhn who are now settled in their new charge.

Mrs. Steve Komeniuk is visiting with relatives in Edmonton for the past week.

Mrs. D. Odegar was called to Edmonton on Wednesday due to the serious illness of her father, Mr. Thomas.

Miss Maud Flint who for the past two years has taught at West Centre is attending the University of Alberta at Edmonton this year.

Mr. Bill Wilkinson of Kharle is visiting with his daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Jack Teasdale.

Harvesting operations are again at a standstill. Rain and snow falling all over the district. With about half the harvesting done the outlook at the moment is pretty grim. The sample of grain this year requires far more curing than a good grade. After the 30 above of last week this is hard to take.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kirkpatrick, now of Dunoon, B.C., but former residents of the district are visiting with their daughter Mrs. Norman Galas-

Man Disappears From Farm In Artland District

A young man employed as a harvester at the farm home of Mr. R. Kekula at Artland, has disappeared causing much concern among the residents as they have searched for the past three days but cannot find any trace of the missing man. He is of Polish decent, not in very good health. Speaks very little English, approximately 5 ft. 6 in. in height, weighs about 135 lbs. Any one seeing this missing man answering to this description please contact the R.C.M. Police at Cutknife.

We are very sorry to report the death of Mr. John Whitford. Our sincere sympathy goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Pat Whitford and family.

We saw some pretty grim looking faces Monday when the hunters returned home and no game. Guess the geese are not down yet. Better luck next time boys!

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Smithson and son Stewart of Chisley, B.C., are visiting at their parental home. Mr. and Mrs. J. Hein and friends around the district.

We are pleased to report that T. M. Barth who is in a city hospital at Saskatoon and was seriously injured in a car accident is feeling very well. Keep up the good work Tom.

Mrs. C. T. Dell returned from Saskatoon and Kamisk.

McLaughlin Hunters Shoot Much -- Bring Home Little

Mr. and Mrs. J. McAmmond and family motored from Enderby, B.C., and are visiting relatives in McLaughlin and Paradise Valley.

Gordon Ritter of Edmonton spent the week-end with his mother Mrs. L. Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Road and Gordon returned to Edmonton on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Dykstra and family of Cadogan spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Moneroff.

They were accompanied from Ribstone with Mr. Moneroff's mother and brother.

Mr. W. Lincoln is building an addition to his cafe.

The rain has called a halt to the harvesting and given the farmers and elevator agents a short respite--(we hope it's short). This busy time is important for our agents, especially now with hunting season in full swing. There surely has been no lack of ammunition here. I wouldn't know as to results, but I did hear there was a shortage of game brought home.

Stockmen's Supplies, at PARCELS MARKET, Phone 18, Chauvin.

forth and son Raymond and daughter Mrs. Barnsley. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick are on their way home after visiting at their old home in New Brunswick.

We regret to report that Mrs. R. Smith has been on the sick list for the past two weeks.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Beckett of Drayton Valley on the birth of a daughter.

Mrs. J. B. Chambers has returned home after a short stay for treatment in the University Hospital at Edmonton.

MILLING AND BAKING QUALITY OF FROSTED WHEAT SET FORTH

In spite of some frost damage, No. 4 Northern wheat should prove satisfactory for milling according to a report prepared by the Board of Grain Commissioners' Laboratory. Some No. 5 wheat may also be milled if markets can be found for low grade flour of darker color and reduced baking strength. No. 6 wheat, which is more heavily frosted and contains more green and immature kernels, will be fit only for feed. These lower grades show the typical properties of frosted wheat established by seven years' research following 1923 and 1924. These grades show increasing percentages of frost damage. An average sample of sound wheat grading No. 2 Northern was used for comparison. Over 3,500 samples of wheat from all parts of Western Canada were collected and analysed for the preparation of grade standards. Dr. Anderson emphasized that he dealt with estimates of quality based on data now available. The crop is late, and only a small proportion of it has been threshed and delivered to country elevators. The Laboratory may have to revise its estimates as samples of late harvested wheat are collected and studied.

Differences in the milling quality of the grades are shown below:

Grade 2 Nor.; Bushel weight, lb. 64.0; Flour yield, %, 72.1; Milling time, min. 45.
Grade 4 Nor.; Bushel weight, lb. 62.5; Flour yield, %, 69.0; Milling time, min. 65.
Grade No. 5; Bushel weight, lb. 61.3; Flour yield, %, 66.5; Milling time, min. 65.
Grade No. 6; Bushel weight, lb. 59.5; Flour yield, %, 64.1; Milling time, min. 70.

Bushel weights were tested on wheat cleaned for milling and are thus higher than weights usually reported. Flour yields show the percentages of flour that can be obtained by normal milling methods; the amount decreases with grade. No. 4 yielding 5% less flour than No. 2. Frosted, green, and immature kernels make the lower grades woody and hard to mill; the wheat does not break up readily into flour. These qualities are shown by the increased time required for milling samples of lower grades. In the commercial mill, frosted wheat slows up production and increases flour costs.

Properties for the flour from each grade are shown below:

Grade 2 Nor. 58 100 40.7
Grade 4 Nor. 56 100 40.7
Grade No. 5 54 100 40.7
Grade No. 6 52 100 40.7

John Whitford, Early Pioneer Laid To Rest

Just how old John Whitford was, no one is quite sure. But of this all are confident, he was one of the oldest pioneers of the West to live hereabout. John has been a well known figure in Chauvin district for many years having made his residence in the forest reserve south of Artland. For quite a time he looked after the fences for the Manitou Cattle Breeders' Association which has extensive pasture rights in the reserve.

Whether John was born at Fort Qu'Appelle or Duck Lake is not quite certain, but he was the son of Frances Whitford and Marie Dechene. His father worked for the Hudson's Bay Co. from Winnipeg and was at one time a store-keeper at a pioneer store which is believed to have been located near Clear Lake, south of Heath. He also held the first mail contract between Swift Current and Battleford before the Tiel Rebellion.

In those days John Todd, a cousin, travelled with him. John, when reminiscing, stated that he remembered the steel coming to Swift Current, when he was 12 or 13 years of age. Many other recollections of the pioneer days have been buried with John, but some have been recorded.

Important feature of every settlement of any size in those times was the R.C.M.V. barracks, and he recalled the important part the police played in the early days. John lived for a while in the Cypress Hills district and 30 or 35 years ago took up script at Maple Creek. This town he reported, was moved ten miles when the railway came through.

John was one of eleven children, seven sons and four daughters. His brothers were Louis, Frances, Eli, Peter, Joseph, John, Pat and his sisters Philemon, Genevieve, Marie and Mariette.

All his brothers appear to have predeceased him, and only two sisters are living, Genevieve and Mariette. Mariette is living at Yonker and Genevieve at Lloydminster.

Mrs. John Suffer, sister of his first wife is living at Yonker. In the passing of John Whitford one of the closest links with an old and heroic past has been broken.

C.N.I.B. Urges Greater Interest In Work For The Blind

Those of us who have our eyesight are, we believe, inclined to take it pretty much for granted. It is doubtful whether any of us ever try to imagine how we would get along without it. It is also doubtful whether we think very often or very seriously about those who are denied this blessing. When we do think about them most of us are probably not too sure just what we can do to help.

The thought of becoming blind is actually a rather frightening one. When we consider it we find ourselves wondering just what would happen to our jobs, our work in the garden, our game of golf. We envision ourselves being suddenly cut off from movies and Having gone this far in our thinking it does not require much additional thought for us to realize that this state of affairs is no accident. Most of what they enjoy today blind people have because of the excellent service organization which has been functioning in their interests for the past thirty-two years. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind has been building, and still is building, a better world for blind Canadians. This is tremendously reassuring not only because of those who are already blind but because of those who will need these benefits in the future. We cannot be so unrealistic as to suppose that nobody else will ever lose his eyesight. We naturally hope that blindness will never enter our own homes but we should be grateful that for those who do need it, there is a C.N.I.B.

The Northern Alberta Service Centre and Residence of the C.N.I.B., located in Edmonton, is a fascinating place. On entering it the visitor is immediately impressed by its cheerful and congenial atmosphere. He finds blind people living there in wonderfully comfortable surroundings particularly designed for their special needs. He discovers that a sightless teacher is training blind people in Braille, typing and handicrafts and that some are engaged in occupational work in the spacious workshop. He is shown the well-designed recreation quarters and told how they are used. He finds that the administrative offices are humming with the satisfying business of helping sightless people to overcome the obstacles which blindness has placed in their paths.

A few moments ago we were thinking that we were not too sure just how we could help our blind friends. We now appear to have found the logical answer. The Canadian National Institute for the Blind knows their problems. It can find the solutions to them. It has the experience, facilities and personnel to do so. What better way can we help them than by supporting it? The Northern Alberta rural campaign of the C.N.I.B. will be in progress during October. Instead of taking our eyesight for granted this is one occasion on which we have the opportunity of expressing our gratitude for it by helping those who are no longer fortunate as to be able to do so. We can give

Pies Preferred

History does not record the name of the Chef who, of necessity, made pies of apples instead of meat. His apple pies were so successful that pie soon became more popular as dessert than as a main course dish. The variety of dessert pie has increased until there are hundreds of fruit, custard and gelatine-sponge pies from which to choose. The homemaker who is able to make good pastry holds the key to popularity in her home and community. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, say that there is no good or bad luck in pastry making. It is accuracy in measuring and care in handling that counts. There are many excellent methods and recipes for pastry. The following modern method of mixing pastry makes it almost failure-proof.

Plain Pastry
3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
OR 1 1/2 cups pastry flour
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
4 tablespoons cold water
1/2 cup lard or mid-flavored fat
Mix flour and salt. Remove 1/4 cup of the flour and blend the water into it, making a smooth paste. Cut the fat into the remaining flour until the pieces are the size of small peas. Mix in the flour paste, combine until the tough clumps together. Chill before rolling. Makes enough pastry for 2 nine-inch pies, or 1 double crust and 1 nine-inch shell; or 2 dozen two-inch tart shells.

There are, however, several points which are worth keeping in mind. Too much flour makes tough pastry. Too much shortening makes the pastry dry and crumbly. Too much liquid makes heavy pastry. Too much handling spoils the tender texture.

It is this last point on which the novice often stumbles. In her efforts to make the perfect pie, she works with the pastry too long.

The pastry is most important in pie-making but it is the filling that gives the pie its character. These tested recipes should be added to the list of favorites.

Butterscotch Peach Pie
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell
1 20-oz. can peaches
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons butter
3/4 teaspoon flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1 tablespoon vinegar
Line a 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Drain liquid from peaches and slice the fruit into the pastry shell. Mix the peach syrup and brown sugar and bring to boil. Melt butter, add flour, salt and cinnamon. Add this mixture slowly to hot liquid and cook until mixture is thick and smooth, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat and add vinegar. Pour the sauce over sliced peaches and cover with a lattice of pastry strips. Bake in a very hot oven, 425° F., until done, about 25 minutes. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

Pumpkin Cluffon Pie
3/4 cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup brown sugar
2 egg yolks
1 1/2 teaspoons ginger
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/4 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg whites
2 baked 9-inch pie shells
Mix pumpkin with 1/2 cup brown sugar, beaten egg yolks, spices, salt and milk. Cook in the top of a double boiler until thickened, about 20 minutes.

GIANT LANCASTERS RETURN TO SERVICE WITH R.C.A.F.

GIANT Lancasters, the night bombers of World II, are coming out of retirement at Malton, Ont., and being prepared for maritime reconnaissance service with the R.C.A.F. The big ships, as shown here, will have to have a considerable renovating and re-equipping before going into service again.

Beat egg whites until stiff, beating in remaining 1/4 cup sugar and fold meringue quickly into the pumpkin mixture. Pour filling into the baked pie shells and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375° F., for 10 minutes. Cool and serve. Yield: two 9-inch pies.

Industrial and Farmers' Income

Recently I called on a number of North Dakota elevators and found that the price North Dakota farmers were receiving for their No. 1 Northern wheat—some what inferior to Canadian No. 1 Northern—was around a dollar a bushel more than the initial price Canadian farmers were receiving for their No. 1 Northern a few yards across the International boundary line.

The prices today are $2.11 being received by American farmers (equivalent of Canadian funds) at Portland, North Dakota, and $1.24 by Canadian farmers at North Portal, Saskatchewan. The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in its bulletin of September 15th informs us that the cash income of Canadian farmers for the first six months of this year was 18.4 percent lower than for the first six months of last year, and 5.3 percent lower than the first six months of 1948. The Bureau shows also that Departmental stores' sales for Canada were up 15 percent compared with last year. There are four times more purchasers in Canada who are not farmers than farmers. This all indicates that while the income of industrial workers has been increasing, the farmers' income has been declining.

Considering all this one might well ask where is the "security" promised so ardently to our prairie farmers.

Items of Interest in The World

Canada's 1950 wheat crop has been officially estimated at 490,000,000 bushels, a drop of 54,000,000 bushels from the previous estimate of 544,000,000 bushels. Of the total wheat crop the spring wheat harvest is estimated at 460,000,000 bushels compared with a previous forecast of 509,000,000 bushels. The drop in estimates is attributed to the wheat killing weather and it is estimated that it will cost the farmers more than $100,000,000 in production loss alone.

India's 1949-50 flaxseed crop according to final official estimates amounted to 17,000,000 bushels from an estimated 17,711,000 bushels. This is a production decrease of 4 percent and an acreage decrease of 2 percent from the 1948-49 estimate.

Line Elevators Urge Reduction In Price Spreads In Wheat

Line country elevator companies have wired Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, urging the Dominion Government to narrow the spread on low grade wheat and thereby increase the price paid to farmers in relation to One Northern wheat. In its wire to Mr. Howe the North-West Line Elevators Association points out that farmers are on a limited quota basis of delivery of grain to country elevators and this coupled with the reduced initial payment and wide spread on low grade grain is proving a decided hardship on a large number of farmers.

The text of the telegram forwarded by the North-West Line Elevators Association to the Minister of Trade and Commerce reads:

"We would like to ask you at this time to reconsider the spreads set for all grades of wheat under One Northern which result in a reduction in the value of these grades as compared with One Northern of $2 for No. 3; 10c for No. 3; 3c for No. 4; 28c for No. 6; 34c for No. 6 and 40c for Feed Wheat."

"We fully appreciate the difficult situation that will face the Wheat Board this year in marketing the crop due to the large quantities of low grades, but in widening the spreads prevailing a year ago, we feel a situation is created wherein it will be much more difficult to establish their true values abroad. We feel the wide spread established by the Wheat Board on the 1950 wheat crop will tend to depreciate the price which buyers will offer for the lower grades. We realize that this has been done in order to protect the Canadian Wheat Board against any possible loss, but a protection that stresses a possible reduction in world values as indicated in the reduction in the initial price basis One Northern of 35c per bushel as compared with a year ago, and a further sharp reduction in the spread between One Northern and the other grades, seems to us to materially defeat the policy of giving the farmer a floor price.

"We are astonished to learn that the spreads now prevailing have been established in consultation with and approved by farm co-operative leaders. We quote your statement to Parliament (Unrevised Hansard of September 15th, 1950, Page 595) as follows: 'I asked the wheat board to discuss the spreads with the pools after I received the board report, as I wanted to have the judgment of responsible leaders of the farm co-operatives.' They did so, and advised me later that the grades set carried the judgment of those leaders of the co-operatives who were consulted."

"It would seem to us that it is now possible to make milling tests of 3 and 4 Northern wheat in relationship to No. 3, and to review and revise these spreads, and also to further review the situation in respect to the spread between the minimum International Wheat Agreement price and the price of our Nos. 5, 6 and Feed wheat.

"A protection to the Wheat Board and the Government against all possible contingencies in the matter of loss in price, creates an initial price to the farmer on a considerable volume of this crop, that is a decided hardship, even though the farmer might ultimately receive a further final payment."

"It must furthermore be borne in mind that the farmers are now on a limited quota basis on delivery of grain to elevators and will remain on a quota basis for a considerable time. This factor and the low initial payment, coupled with wide spreads will prove a decided hardship to a very large number of the farmers in western Canada. For these reasons we respectfully request you to review this situation and narrow these spreads at the present time."

MAY SOLVE VETERANS' HOME BUILDING

—Central Press Canadian

Success of a co-operative house-building plan in Ottawa may make it possible for half-a-million war veterans to build their own homes with little or no down payment. The plan in Ottawa, has 20 veterans building 20 houses under V.L.A. and National Housing help and direction. Here, V.L.A. construction superintendent Morris Goodwin, right, uses a house model to demonstrate the fine points of building to his "students" who expect to move into homes they have built themselves by next spring.

"Christmassy" Says McCafferty Scribe

Mrs. Mabel Johnston had her "piece," Mrs. Tom Waldron and small son Melvin of Powell River, B.C. visiting here recently. Mrs. Waldron will be remembered in this district as Helen Johnston.

Also visiting in the district recently was Mr. Bert Woodbridge of Edmonton.

Harry Hamilton, who has been working north of Edmonton all summer has returned for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Carney.

And of course this week's news wouldn't be complete without mentioning the snow! It all looks very Christmassy, but might be more appreciated if there wasn't all the grain still standing in the fields.

When the weather and other factors are taken into consideration, it might at first sight, seem rather inopportune to be holding Harvest Thanksgiving Services next Sunday. It is sufficient for me to say now that I am sure that we all realize that we should give thanks to God even if the present harvest is disappointing and late being gathered in. Let us give thanks together with full congregations for God's goodness now and at all times.

Five Inches Of Snow At Pelican

The weatherman has given us .ome five inches of snow, so it will be some time before harvesting is again underway.

Mr. H. Haugen is a patient of the Wainwright hospital. We wish him a speedy return home.

Mrs. K. Pavesy and family of Lloydminster has been visiting at her parents home for the past week.

Mrs. O. Ronning has returned home after helping through harvest at her brothers H. Haugen.

Miss Betty Bell was unable to come home for the week end due to bad roads.

Mrs. R. Reisinger has been picking some nice strawberries all through September and brought in a good sized bowl full day before the snow storm.

Mr. W. Leukow of Edmonton is down to do some goose and duck hunting. Good Luck!!!!

The gravelers are again delayed for bad weather, we hope that this will be the last delay on that 5 miles of road north of Pelican. They've been at it for some time now and winter is drawing in and still more roads to be gravelled.

MILLING AND BAKING QUALITY OF FROSTED WHEAT

|        |    |    |      |
|--------|----|----|------|
| 4 Nor. | 51 | 96 | 64.4 |
| No. 5  | 44 | 95 | 65.5 |
| No. 6  | 47 | 92 | 68.7 |

High ash is undesirable in flour, and flour is bought on specifications stating a maximum ash content. The table shows that ash content goes up as the grade goes down. Color scores are measured with a spectrophotometer. While 2 Northern gives a creamy white flour the lower grades are progressively grayer and browner. These differences in color are easily seen even by untrained persons. In commercial mills bleaching is used to whiten flour milled from sound wheat; but bleaching cannot remove the dull grey color of flour milled from frosted, immature and green kernels. Absorption is a measure of the amount of water required to make a dough suitable for baking. In sound wheat, a reasonably high absorption is desirable, but frosted wheat shows higher absorption than normal because of damage to the grain constituents. The dough absorbs a large amount of water when mixing but cannot hold it during fermentation and later becomes slack and more difficult to handle.

Loaves of bread baked from flour of each grade were shown at the meeting. Dr. Anderson dealt first with the size of the loaves. As each loaf is made from the same weight of flour, a large loaf represents what we commonly call light bread; and a small loaf represents heavy, so-called bread. Strong wheat that will give a large loaf is demanded in England to improve the soft home-grown wheat. Canadian wheat that gives a small loaf will not improve English wheat.

No. 2 Northern of this year's crop gave a loaf of 740 cc. This is considerably lower than the 16-year average for the grade which is 785 cc. Loaf sizes for this and the other grades, together with the protein contents of the flour, are given in the following table:

| Grade  | Loaf size, cc. | Flour protein % |
|--------|----------------|-----------------|
| 2 Nor. | 740            | 12.6            |
| 4 Nor. | 735            | 13.1            |
| No. 5  | 685            | 13.5            |
| No. 6  | 675            | 13.3            |

The loaves decrease in size as the grade of the wheat drops. In sound wheat, loaf volume is almost invariably directly related to protein content; the higher the protein content, the larger the loaf. This relation does not hold in the above table. No. 2 gives a larger loaf than No. 4 and a much larger loaf than No. 6 though No. 2 has a lower protein than No. 4 and little more protein than No. 6. A smaller loaf than would be expected on a protein basis shows how the frost has damaged the quality of the protein in wheat entering the lower grades.

The darker color and poorer baking quality of the lower grades also shows in the outside appearance of the loaves and in the texture and color of the crumb when the sliced bread is examined.

No. 2 gives a bold, well shaped loaf, and No. 4 is only slightly inferior in appearance. But No. 5 and No. 6 give poorly shaped loaves. Marked differences occur in crumb color and texture. No. 2 has a close, even texture, and a creamy color. No. 4 loaf has a crumb that is not so close and even and has a greyish tinge. Loaves for No. 5 and No. 6 are progressively poorer. The crumb is coarse and open in texture, and large blow holes in the body of the loaf and just under the crust occur.

The beautifully-appointed flagship of the Canadian Pacific "White Empress" fleet, shown in lower left, will feature indoor and outdoor swimming pools, a Lido deck for sunbathing (shown at top), and buffet meals served on the glass-enclosed promenade deck (lower right). Traditional Canadian Pacific service and cuisine will be combined with extensive experience gained in operating cruises to the four corners of the world before the war. quite frequently. The color of the crumb is unattractive; it has a dirty yellowish brown color, especially in the No. 4 loaf.

Dr. Anderson suggested that any Canadian baker who attempted to sell bread made from No. 5 and No. 6 and No. 4 wheat would be out of business in a week. Asked how such bread would sell in England where bread is not so white, he pointed out that the British Government requires that all wheat be milled to 81% extraction. That means that the British miller would have to get 14 per cent more flour from No. 5 and 17 per cent more from No. 4 than was obtained by the Laboratory. The loaves would then be so much poorer in appearance that they would have to be given minus areas. Canadian bread is so white that a shade or two of difference would hardly be noticed by the consumer. In England, where the bread is slightly darker, both miller and baker go to endless trouble to keep it as white as possible. Special milling and baking processes have been devised to keep the color attractive. Having just returned from a visit to the United Kingdom, Dr. Anderson said he felt sure that more rather than less attention was paid to flour and bread color in that country than in Canada.

After hearing the reports of the Chief Chemist and the Chief Inspector, the Committee examined the tentative standard samples for No. 4 Manitoba Northern, No. 5 Wheat, and No. 6 Wheat, and the tentative export standard samples for No. 4 Manitoba Northern and No. 5 Wheat. Milling and baking data on these samples were also considered. A formal resolution setting these samples as the standards and export standards for the 1950-51 crop year, as required by Sections 27 and 31 of the Canada Grain Act, was then unanimously adopted. The Committee will meet again to settle corresponding samples for the higher grades as soon as required information on these grades is available.

German Children Of Negro Fathers Post-War Problem

FRANKFURT, Germany — Red tape is thwarting childless United States Negro couples wishing to adopt children born in Germany to Negro soldiers and German girls.

Mrs. Ethel Louise Butler, Negro schoolteacher from Chicago, said hundreds of American Negro couples are eager to adopt the children. But army and state department red tape has prevented them, she said.

Mrs. Butler came here to arrange for the adoption of such children by families in the United States. She was interested in adopting two of the children herself.

After conferring with American high commission and army authorities, Mrs. Butler said she would return to Chicago to raise funds for her scheme. She discussed the problem with Lt. Col. Marcus H. Ray, army adviser on Negro affairs in Germany, consular officials at Stuttgart and Frankfurt, and high commission resident officers at Heidelberg and Stuttgart.

Discussed With Germans

She visited Negro children in German orphanages and discussed the scheme with German officials. Army officials discouraged the idea. Mrs. Butler reported, saying it would be objected to by the Germans, German officials, however, promised their cooperation, she said.

German sources estimated there were about 2,500 children in the American zones with Negro fathers, including 175 in Heidelberg and Mannheim areas where several Negro units are stationed.

Mrs. Butler said she would seek to have the children classed as displaced persons.

The army prohibits marriage between troops below the grade of sergeant and German nationals. German officials said some Negro fathers attempted to remain in Germany after being ordered back to the United States on rotation.
